7 Art Shows To Attend During Pride 2021

As June 2021 kicks off and COVID-19 numbers dip, the LGBTQ+ community and allies rejoice at their chance to celebrate Pride in person. In addition to parades, drag shows, and parties, a dynamic host of gallery and museum exhibitions spotlighting queer artwork are available throughout the month and beyond. Art & Object has assembled this list of seven particularly exciting events that range from film screenings to intimate gallery shows to outdoor exhibits that run down the streets of West Hollywood.

Trevon Latin: Trinket Eater at Perrotin

Trinket Eater at Perrotin marks the artist Trevon Latin's first exhibition with Perrotin and in New York City, and it's just in time for pride month, which the artist has posted about enthusiastically on social media. While Latin has experience with a wide range of approaches—including performance, installation, costuming, and more—Trinket Eater will showcase the artist's fabric-based mixed-media sculptures and paintings. The work is kaleidoscopic, precious, and aptly captures the apparent ease with which Latin explores identity, fashion, and gender through their artwork.
